GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The Wine and Liquor Trade.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The wine and liquor trade circular states that 1,243,211 gallons of California wine was received on the Atlantic coast last year. During the last two years the American wine business has nearly doubled, though during the six years past the sale of foreign still wines decreased nearly two-thirds. The increase in alcohol exportation is enormous, and the fall trade was unusually large and profitable.

A Murderer Hanged.

CENTREVILLE, Ala., Jan. 18.—Sam. Cook was hanged here yesterday for the murder of Thomas Caldwell two years ago.

The Insurance.

Twelve engines were all morning throwing streams of water on the ruins of the Worth house, fire. Following are the insurances: On buildings, $69,000 in 12 companies; Hirschbel Brothers, $175,000 in 28 companies; Sachs & Co., $120,000 in 21 companies; Forstmann & Co., $475,000 in 24 companies.

In the insurance offices everybody is at work ascertaining to what extent the company is interested in fire. One of the presidents remarked, "If we have a few more fires like those of this week, you must expect a failure among the companies. As it is, I hear of a couple of companies, heavily interested, are in a very lame way."

Assets of the Pacific Mail.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—President Babcock replies to the Times, referring to the statement of the affairs of this company recently published. It appears that the amount stated as cash assets has in some quarters been construed to mean the total assets of the company. In order to correct this erroneous impression, I beg to state that the cash assets as stated simply includes coals, stores, cash on hand, and bills receivable, and that the real property of the company consists of twelve Atlantic iron screw ships of 32,354 tons, costing $6,777,965 43; iron screw ships purchased from the Panama Transit Steamship Company, costing $1,080,000; three wooden paddle wheel ships in good order, cost $2,145,420 81; three steam tugs and seven lighters, costing $153,683 87, one store at $25,000, and real estate and improvements in New York, Aspinwall, in and near San Francisco, Oregon and Yokohama, costing $356,874 61.

Ex-Cobb Declares Herself Innocent.

NORWICH, Conn., Jan. 17.—Mrs. Kate Cobb, who has just been convicted of murder in the second degree, published a statement to-day through her counsel, solemnly avowing her innocence of the crime of murdering her husband, and stating that she was convicted on perjured testimony.

A Brakeman Killed.

OMAHA, Jan. 19.—Henry Hafner, a brakeman, on a west-bound Union Pacific freight train, was instantly killed at Fremont this morning. While coupling cars he slipped and fell on the track and an engine ran over his head.

A Dishonest Postmaster.

John G. Compton, ex-postmaster of Columbus, Nebraska, has been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for the robbery of four registered money letters.

A Petition for the Southern Pacific.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—A memorial to congress is being extensively signed here by leading merchants and manufacturers asking early and favorable action on the Texas Pacific railroad bill.

Steamboat Disaster on the Mississippi.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 18.—The steamer C. Church, with a cargo of molasses, on the trip up struck a snag Wednesday evening, and sunk near Leavenworth, Indiana.

Railroad Accident.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 18.—The Pacific express ran over the Panhandle road, which left the city at 8 o'clock this morning, met with an accident which obstructed the road until this afternoon. An open switch near McDonald's station threw the engine and two mail cars from the track. The fireman was severely hurt. Officials of the road state that no one else was injured.

The Custer Massacre.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—The scout Girard, who arrived to-day in the Reno inquiry, gave a graphic account of the movement of troops on the day of the Custer massacre, described the condition and situation of the battlefield, and mentioned the various orders given. The witness believed the fighting force of the Indians was 2,500 to 3,000 warriors. They fired several volleys of from 50 to 100 shots each on the other side of the village. At about the time the order was given of "Every man to his horse," Reno's force at that word left the road where they were stationed, and in 10 or 15 minutes they saw Custer's command, or what he believed to be that command. He thought the force of 150 men ought to have held the Indians in check for some time. Witness' further testimony related to the finding of bodies, etc.

The Teller Committee Going Home.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 18.—W. B. Merchant, district attorney of St. Mary's, testified concerning the attack on Newman's house, but nothing new was developed. It was ordered that U. S. Commissioner Lane take the testimony of witnesses not examined for Natchitoches, Tensas and Calahoula parishes, and that Morris Marks represent the majority and E. T. Jonas the minority. The testimony so taken will be transmitted to Teller and treated as if taken by the committee. The members leave this evening.

Ice Gorges Broken.

RICHMOND, Jan. 18.—The steamer Wyandke reports a passage through the ice gorge at 11 o'clock to-day, occupying over three days. A second gorge near Ventua, has been broken up by the steamers Wyandke and Old Dominion, coming from each end. The ice at that point was twelve feet thick.

Jail Burned.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 18.—The jail of Jefferson county, at Pine Bluff, burned last night. The prisoners were removed to the courthouse for safety. A prisoner fired the building.

A Stock Firm Suspends.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—S. M. Mills & Co., said to be brokers for Jay Gould and other well known operators, have suspended. The Northwestern advanced too rapidly for the bears.

A Charge of Fraud.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 18.—Gov. Hull has been indicted by the U. S. grand jury on a charge of conspiracy with others in obtaining false returns of elections in Brevard county. Hull was a Democratic candidate for congress at the late election, from the 2d district, and has a certificate of election from the governor.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Mormon Polygamy—Remarks of Mrs. Paddock and Mrs. Williams before the House Judiciary Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Following are the remarks made by Mrs. Emeseline Wells and Miss Zina Young Williams, of Salt Lake, before the house judiciary committee to-day, in support of the proposition for the enactment of some law to protect wives and children of present polygamists in Utah from the anticipated effects of the enforcement of the law against polygamy, as regards all marriages heretofore contracted. Mrs. Wells said:

I had been driven westward from state to state until I took refuge on soil not belonging to the United States but to Mexico. We were thought to live under the free American flag, and we in the wilderness in which to build up a civilization of our own and to worship God according to the dictates of our consciences. When the United States took possession of our territory we were again hunted by mobbers who followed us there and who knew we had comfortable homes, good business owned and blessed by their kind fathers. We have stirred up the Christian women of this country, who, in appealing to you to further knows not what they do. We have no [illegible] dram shops, no paupers, no outcast women, no illegitimate children. Enforce this cruel law, let the gentiles rule that territory, and you must build prisons for our husbands and almshouses for our children, and we—what shall we be before your law?

Mrs. Williams said:

My father Brigham Young, loved his children, owned them and provided for them. Will the government of the United States make these women outcasts who are now honored wives and mothers grown gray in rearing sons, good citizens of the United States? We thought the constitution would protect us in the free exercise of religion and that the law would be pronounced unconstitutional. Now that the supreme court has decided otherwise we came to you for protection. We are United States citizens born on American soil. We are a strength in the nation. Nowhere will you find braver, truer men than our husbands and the sons we are rearing. We ask justice at your hands, we ask deliberation that you may know every phase of this question before you do us any greater wrong.

Joseph on the Stump.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Lincoln hall was crowded last night to hear Chief Joseph and other Indians speak for the rights and liberties of their race.

Bond Redemption.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The secretary of the treasury calls to-day for the redemption of $20,000 000 5-20 bonds of 1865, consols of 1867.

Naval Detail.

Capt. John Irwin is ordered to the command of the receiving ship Independence, at Mare Island.

Butler's Opposition to Investigation of the "Ciphers."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Butler makes no secret of his determination to oppose a resolution which Potter will present to the house next Monday, authorizing the committee over which the latter presides to investigate the cipher conspiracy, and to appropriate money for the expenses of such inquiry. Butler says the most that is alleged in regard to the cipher dispatches is that they disclose an attempt on the part of Tilden's agents to secure the presidency for their principal by means of bribery. He says the bribery was not successful, and the persons implicated hold no positions under the government, therefore it is a matter with which in his opinion, congress has nothing to do, and the investigation of which it has no right to spend public money.

The Army of the Cumberland --- The Thomas Statute.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Gen. Sheridan, president of the society of the Army of the Cumberland, make the following statement: The regular meeting of the society will be postponed until the completion of the equestrian statue of Maj. Gen. Geo. H. Thomas at Washington. The artist, Mr. Ward, has given positive assurance that the statue will be completed early in June of this year. The society will be present and participate in the ceremonies attending the unveiling of this monument to their old commander. Should any considerable number of members, however, indicate by letter a desire to hold the reunion sooner, the request will receive due consideration and the announcement of the time of meeting be made.

Members of the Reichstag to be Expelled.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—The journals state under reserve that as soon as the Socialist Democratic deputies come to the opening of the reichstag they will be expelled, in virtue of the existence of a petty state of siege.

The Four Per Cent. Loan.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Subscriptions to the 4 per cent. loan to-day were $2,493,200.

Measures Relating to Money.

The house committee on coinage, weights and measures has authorized Muldrow to prepare a bill for the redemption of trade dollars at par, and to prohibit its further circulation in the United States. The question whether its coinage for export shall be permitted in the future was not disposed of. Vance was authorized to report a bill introduced by Cummings, to provide for redemption in legal tenders of subsidiary silver coin and for reissue thereof.

A Matter of Justice.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The house committee on claims will report favorably on a bill relieving the late assistant treasurer, Chandler, at Boston from liability for acts of his disbursing clerk, Hartwell who secretly loaned Meltor, Ward & Co. $450,000 of funds of the sub-treasury. The committee will take the ground that Hartwell was appointed by Chandler's superiors, hence Chandler should not be held responsible for the misdemeanors of his subordinate.

Bills before the Senate—The Burnside Army Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The important bill amendatory of the patent laws comes up in the senate to-morrow as unfinished business, and may possibly run for several days longer as it involves knotty legal questions prolific of debate in that congregation of lawyers. When finished, however, the next business in order, according to general understanding, will be the Burnside army bill, unless some appropriation bill be ready, in which event the Burnside bill will have to wait indefinitely. The joint committee's present plan is to bring it forward for consideration in the senate before calling it up in the house, though why they should desire to do so is a mystery to everybody else, as it is not likely to receive twenty votes in the senate, if indeed more than half that many, in addition to the publicly authorized amendments of the house committee on appropriations that they believe the Burnside bill has no chance of passage, it can be stated on private but equally explicit authority that there is not one member of that committee who desires its passage, or who will fail to oppose it if brought before the house for consideration. The committee will, on the contrary, favor their own project for army reduction as heretofore outlined in these dispatches, and this measure will probably pass the house, and with some amendments it has a good chance of passing the senate also; but the Burnside bill is already to all practical intents and purposes dead.

A Project to Bring the Railroad Bills Before the Senate.

It is understood that an arrangement has been made between the friends of the Texas Pacific and of the Northern Pacific railroad bills to combine their forces in the house of representatives to-morrow in the support of one or more motions to suspend the rules and secure an early date for the consideration of both measures which are otherwise not likely to be reached in time for final action this session. One motion will probably be to take the Northern Pacific from the speaker's table and refer it to a committee on Pacific railroads, and another to assign a particular day for action on any business reported from that committee which will of course include both measures. Whether an opportunity can be obtained to make these motions in the face of Randall's opposition, and in view of the fact that at 2 o'clock to-morrow being the second Monday of the month, the house must by standing rule devote the rest of the day to District of Columbia business, is very doubtful, but strenuous efforts are in progress to-night to make the arrangement successful by additional combinations.

An Old Claim to be Paid.

The house war claims committee have reported favorably on Page's bill for the relief of William H. Davis of Oakland with an amendment providing that the amount of money to be paid him as the purchase of a wharf and warehouse at San Diego, destroyed by United States troops, shall be determined by the secretary of war. The committee in their written report state that during the winter of 1861-2 unprecedented floods of rain cut off all communication of San Diego with the interior and the troops then stationed there finding themselves destitute of wood for fuel or for any other purpose, availed themselves of Davis' wharf and terminating warehouse as not only a convenient, but the only source of supply, and continued the work of demolition until the whole structure was cleared away, the planks being ripped up and piles sawed off to the water's edge. This extraordinary use of private property was authorized and directed by the commanding officer as a matter of necessity, and having occurred in a loyal state far away from the theatre of war, the committee find there is no doubt of the liability of government to make compensation. They are satisfied by the testimony that the property cost Davis sixty thousand dollars in 1852. The committee say that the secretary of war should ascertain on behalf of the government what amount of damages should be paid claimant for its destruction in 1862.

Retrenchment in the Public Printing.

The house committee on printing will report favorably on Singleton's bill to reduce the expense of public printing and binding. It is expected that three hundred thousand dollars will be saved annually.

The Los Angeles Postoffice.

Senators Sargent and Booth and Representatives Page, Wigginton and Luttrell made a joint visit to the postoffice department to-day and united in expressing their confidence in Postmaster Dunfellberger of Los Angeles, and their opinion that the present location of the postoffice in the Odd Fellows' building should be continued. The efforts of certain property holders to break up Dunkelberger's arrangement in this regard, seems to have locally aroused intense feeling and to have somewhat imperiled his tenure of office. Hence this united effort of his powerful friends in Washington which doubtless settles the matter.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

The Missing Official.

ROME, Jan. 18.—In the Italian chamber of deputies yesterday, Signor Depretisa, president of the council, in reply to an interrogation by Signor Ercole, regarding the disappearance of Col. Gola, and what steps the government had taken in the matter, recapitulated the facts and stated that notwithstanding the most diligent efforts of the Italian government and its agents nothing has been ascertained throwing any light on the mystery. He trusted that the Roumanian government would not fail in the duty incumbent upon it of making searching inquiry in the case. Signor Ercole was dissatisfied with the reply. He insisted that the Roumanian government was responsible for the disappearance, and declared that if the Italian government did not make itself respected in the matter, and take such steps as appeared to him sufficient, he should move a vote of want of confidence in the government.

London Items.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Edward Matthew Ward, the artist, has committed suicide.

The United States ship Constitution sails for New York in three or four days. She is apparently uninjured.

Weston started this morning from the Royal Exchange to walk over highways two thousand miles in one thousand hours, and deliver fifty lectures.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Middleboro, Rosedale and Ferry Hill iron company has failed; liabilities, £280,000.

The U. S. ship Constitution is making three inches of water per hour. Divers will examine her hull Monday.

Roumellian Organization.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 18.—The Agence Russe says: "A proposal to extend the functions of the commission for the organization of eastern Roumelia has received the assent of all the powers, and such prolongation does not constitute a violation of the treaty of Berlin. The Russian administration of the govern ment of eastern Roumelia also is thus prolonged until the labors of the organization commission are concluded."

Increase of French Revenue.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—French revenue returns for year ending Dec. 31, 1878, show that indirect taxes yielded 2,025,770,000 francs, an increase of 75,072,400 francs.

Search for a Pamphlet.

MADRID, Jan. 18.—Constitutional newspapers loudly complain that domiciliary visits were made on Thursday night to the houses of three friends and patrons of Marshal Serano, and search made for a seditious pamphlet which however was not discovered. The affair has caused some sensation.

News from South Africa.

CAPE TOWN, Dec. 31.—The Zulu king has expressed a willingness to surrender some persons demanded by the British ultimatum and pay a fine. He would also consider other demands if time was allowed. Sir Bartle Frere replied that the word of the English government cannot be altered. The term for Cetywayo's reply expires on the 1st of January. The British troops are being massed.

A Vessel Abandoned.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The British brig Eunice, Captain Taylor, from Richibucto by way of Sydney, C. B., where she was towed in to repair damages, was abandoned at sea. Her crew were rescued and landed at Flushing.

Commercial Failure.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 19.—A branch office here of the Gottenburger commercial company has suspended payment.

STATE RIGHTS.

Resolutions Against Federal Interference by the Virginia Legislature.

RICHMOND, Jan. 18.—The senate special committee and house committee on federal relations, acting jointly, to-day submitted a long report and series of resolutions in regard to the alleged usurpation of state rights by Judge River. The resolutions declare that Virginia, in re-entering the union after the civil war resumed all her relations to the government on a perfect equality with the other states, and is entitled to the same rights and powers; that the United States can no more rightfully interfere with or attempt to execute the powers and perform the functions of states than states can those of the United States, and any attempt by either to interfere with the rights of the others will be usurpation and unconstitutional and void; that, therefore, all acts of congress, and particularly those known as the civil rights bill and enforcement act, which attempt or profess to provide for the performance by the United States of duties and obligations belonging to the states, are unconstitutional and void; that, therefore the action of the judge of the district court of the United States for the western district of Virginia, in assuming jurisdiction of the cases of Lee Reynolds and Burwell Reynolds, parties charged with a crime against this commonwealth, and held to answer therefor, is an attempt to execute the laws of this commonwealth and regulate her internal policy in the courts and by the officers of the United States unwarranted by the constitution, is destructive of the right of the people of each state to protect life, liberty and property in their own way by their own courts and officers, and ought at once to be remedied by proper judicial action, and any recurrence of the same be prevented by appropriate legislation; that proper provisions by law ought to be made for the prompt and effective supervision by the supreme court of the United States of all proceedings of judges of inferior courts of the United States; that the governor is instructed to direct the attorney general to institute proceedings in the name of the commonwealth before the supreme court of the United States, and demand such protection and redress as that tribunal can afford in the premises.

THE NEW YORK FIRE.

The Loss.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The fire last night in Worth and Thomas streets destroyed three buildings occupied by wholesale dry goods and clothing firms. The loss approximates two and a half millions.

The fire last night at Worth and Church streets will cause, it is said, the suspension of six or eight small insurance companies. The block in which the fire occurred was regarded as valuable in goods stored there, as any single block in the city.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—One effect of last night's fire is to advance the rate of insurance. All policies expiring to day are charged higher premiums and the companies are getting an advance without objection.

Much Ado about Nothing.

[From the Sunday Welcome.]

We notice that Senator Mitchell has a Case on hand at the postoffice to look out that the department shall be made more useful as a political electioneering agency than as a common carrier and distributing agency for the benefit of the people at large. From what we have daily witnessed we believe that Postmaster Cole and his assistants have had enough to do to distribute the mails and tend to all the legitimate duties of the postoffice in this city without lending their aid to Senator Mitchell or any other servant of the people in flooding the country with political documents, printed out of the people's money, carried by land and sea at enormous expense, and all intended for no other use but private electioneering documents. There were times that people who had boxes in the postoffice received more of these documents than scarcely anything else, and few would dispute that for all the good they did they might reasonably have been burned before the mails were loaded with them.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Lawrence Hall Overhauled.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18.—The London and San Francisco bank has received a telegram from its London correspondent, announcing that Lawrence O Hall, its absconding clerk, who got away with about $40,000 of the bank's money, was arrested on the steamer Oceanic, but whether at Yokohama or Hongkong, the dispatch does not state.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18.—From telegrams received by Capt. Lees it appears that Hall, absconding clerk of the London and San Francisco Bank, was arrested at Hongkong, but cannot be extradited, as larceny is not included in our treaty with Great Britain.

The "Bucket Shop" Bills.

Thirteen charges of embezzlement against W. G. Stedman, defaulting "bucket shop" proprietor, were called in the police court this morning, and on motion of the defense, who stated that they desired to obtain the attendance of some important witnesses, were continued until Thursday next.

About a score of the creditors of Stedman met according to call at 9 o'clock this morning, at 313 Pine street. A call had been made for the purpose of levying an assessment of one dollar on each creditor to prosecute the swindler. The best of legal talent will be engaged, and it is the intention to make defendant disgorge every dollar of his stealings that can be got at.

A Dishonest Broker Punished.

George W. Abbott, a young broker, who ran away to Mexico with $40,000 in currency entrusted to him by the Anglo Californian bank to buy silver with, was to day in the municipal court sentenced to three years in the house of correction.

A Serious Quarrel.

A shooting affray which will probably result fatally, took place at 3 o'clock this morning at the corner of Dupont and Morton streets George McInerny, mate of a ship lying at the Union street wharf, and one Connelly, a backman, engaged in a fight which finally led to McInerny's drawing a pistol and firing one shot at Connelly. The bullet struck the man in the abdomen, inflicting a dangerous wound.

AN EXCITING CHASE.

An Officer and His Prisoner Chased by a Mob—Forty Miles on Horseback in Less than Three Hours.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—There is now confined in the city prison a young Digger Indian who has had a brief but exciting experience. His name is Willie Ross, and he has been a resident of Mariposa county until within a few days. On the 9th of May last he shot and killed Jonas Thompson, a farmer living about eight miles from the village of Mariposa. Ross lay in wait for Thompson behind the fence of the latter's garden and put a rifle ball through him. Thompson managed to get into the house, barred the door and lay down by it with a gun in hand, in which position he was found dead by his neighbors. The murder was traced to Ross, who was arrested and lodged in jail. Pending his trial a number of farmers and property holders of Mariposa, who have banded themselves together for mutual protection under the name of the Chouchilla Rangers, attempted to take the Indian from the jail and lynch him, but the strength of the building resisted their efforts. On Monday last Ross was put on trial. On Tuesday at half-past twelve, he was convicted, and Friday was set for passing sentence of imprisonment for life. Directly after his conviction it became apparent that another attempt at lynching would be made. To avert that danger the court hurridly and privately passed sentence without further delay, and about 7½ o'clock P. M., Deputy Sheriff Choiser, who in the meantime had procured two of the best horses in town, placed the prisoner on one and mounting the other set out at the top of his speed for Merced, via Hornitas. He had got about two miles from the village and was just entering a mountain road when a dozen or fifteen of the Chouchilla Rangers appeared in hot pursuit. An exciting chase ensued, pursuers and pursued urging their horses at break neck speed over a winding and difficult mountain trail. At every point where a turn in the road brought the fugitives in view, a shower of bullets from rifles and pistols was sent after them, none fortunately taking effect. Hornitas, 22 miles distant, was reached in about an hour and twenty five minutes, and here the sheriff and prisoner had obtained sufficient lead to give them time to effect a hurried change of horses. Scarcely was this done when the rangers came up and the race recommenced. But the fresh horses of the fugitives proved too much for the jaded animals of the pursuers, and in two hours and forty-five minutes after leaving Mariposa, Choiser and the Indian arrived at Merced, a distance of 40 miles, and Ross was lodged in jail until the arrival of the train, when he was brought to this city, arriving here Wednesday. Owing to the hurried flight from Mariposa, there was no time to make out a commitment, and the Indian has been detained at the city prison awaiting its arrival. Choiser, immediately after seeing his prisoner in a place of safety, went to bed, completely used up by his rough ride. Ross, who is a fat, good-natured looking boy, seems highly pleased with the result of the affair, and is nowise disconcerted at the prospect of life imprisonment at San Quentin.

IDAHO.

Gov. Brayman's Message.

SILVER CITY, Jan. 18.—Governor Brayman's message favors the extension of the Utah and Northern railroad, providing the people of the territory will not be subject to any additional burdens. He favors the extinction of the leading Indian reservations in order that valuable lands, now held by the Umatillas and other tribes, may be thrown open to settlement, and also dwells upon the importance of having a larger military force in the territory.

Lumber and Coal at Puget Sound.

[From the Tacoma Herald.]

To give our readers an approximate idea of what Puget Sound's exports of coal and lumber amounted to in 1878, we subjoin the statement following. Not less than 130,000 tons of Seattle coal were placed on board ship at that place; at Bellingham Bay, 3,750 tons were sent aboard, while at this port 1,250 were thus disposed of. The total quantity of coal sold on the Sound last year to consumers not resident thereon was in the neighborhood of 135,000 tons.

The lumber cut in the mills at Port Gamble exceeded 50 000,000 feet: at Blakely and Madison together, 60,000,000; at Tacoma and Seabeck, 50,000,000; at Discovery, 10,000,000; at Ludlow, 3,000,000; at Milton and Seattle, 20,000,000 feet.

By the above, we mean the quantities exported only, the aggregate of which is nearly 200,000 000 feet. The larger portion of the lumber cut in the mill at Seattle is sold in that city. The mill at Ludlow was shut down almost the whole year, the mill at Discovery several months, the mill at Madison a few weeks, while it ran a part of the time eight hours a day only. Not a stick was cut in the mill at Utsalady. If all these mills were taxed to their utmost, the lumber they would turn out in the course of a year would considerably exceed three hundred million feet, and the task would require but little night work.

We think 100,000 tons of coal, and 210,000,000 feet of lumber, is a very safe estimate of our exports during the present year, the transportation of which will require about six hundred ocean vessels, or a daily average of two arrivals and two departures of such craft during the year.

It is the opinion of the Cincinnati Commercial the Republican party has but one chance to throw away the next presidential election, and that is the nomination of Gen. Grant.

Mr. John D. Belt and Miss Nellie Hesklman of Salem were married on the 15th.

THE INDIAN TROUBLES.

The Situation near Fort Robinson.

FORT ROBINSON, Jan. 8.—A courier has just arrived from the scene of hostilities, five miles distant from the position held by the Cheyennes at the last writing, with information to the effect that the savages had assumed the most inaccessible position of any of the many from which they recently stood the troops at bay. He also states that a party of five soldiers who were detached from the command for the purpose of ascertaining the position held by the Indians, while engaged in this duty unexpectedly found themselves within shot rifle range of over half a score of Indians. The latter discharged a volley at the command, killing Private Barber, of Co. H, 3d cavalry, and gaining possession of his carbine, pistol and ammunition. The comrades of Barber, though exposed to the fire of the Indians used desperate efforts to prevent the Indians from obtaining either his remains or equipments, but without avail. Capt. Wessells believes that the Indians cannot be dislodged from their present position without the sacrifice of a greater number of lives than he deems advisable, and has in consequence dispatched Lieut. Dodd, 3d cavalry, to Red Cloud agency with a view to obtain the assistance of a dozen Sioux scouts well versed in the mode of warfare usually adopted by the Indians. Cattle men, Newman and Chalk, who arrived here to-day report the loss of forty head of horses and that the trail of the thieves indicates them to have been Indians, and possibly Little Wolf's band. Agent Irwin, of Red Cloud, arrived to-night to learn the particulars of late events. It is reported that excitement at the Pine Ridge agency is intense.

An Appeal to Red Cloud for Assistance.

FORT ROBINSON, Neb., Jan. 18.—At a conference held here this morning between Chief Red Cloud and Lieut. Schuyler, of Gen. Crook's staff regarding the propriety of Lieut. Dodd, of the 3d cavalry, going to Red Cloud's new location for the purpose of enlisting the services of some Sioux warriors to be employed as scouts in the expedition against the brave little band of Cheyennes now corralled at Crow Ridge, thirty miles distant, Lieut. Schuyler asked Red Cloud if he thought Lieut. Dodd could succeed in obtaining the services of 15 of his warriors. The old chief, in a very grave tone of voice, and without raising his eyes from the ground, said: "My people are sad at heart since their brothers were killed here some moons ago. They are very angry with the whites, and I am nearly certain will not assist them. Lieut. Schuyler, in as few words as possible, gave him an account of the Cheyenne outbreak, how the Cheyennes fired upon the soldiers in fleeing from their prison room, killing them, and trying to punish the Cheyenne bucks, the squaws were accidentally killed. Lieutenant Schuyler finally got the old chief to say: "Young chief, Lieut. Dodd, can go to my camp and tell my son-in-law, Young-Man-Afraid-of-his-Horses, that it is my wish that he would try and get some of my warriors to help the government in capturing the Cheyennes." Lieut. Dodd, who is well known to Red Cloud's braves, started immediately for Pine Ridge agency on his mission, with what success, we will soon learn. It is believed that Capt. Johnson's command joined Wessel's at the scene of hostilities some time during the night of the 17th. There has been nothing heard from either of the commands since yesterday morning. Important news is expected hourly.

CHEYENNE, Jan. 18.—Companies A, B, D, F, S and M of the 5th cavalry, having been ordered to take the field in search of Little Wolf's band of Cheyennes, believed to be depredating ranches in Northwestern Nebraska, will move from Fort Russell to morrow under command of Capt. Montgomery.

The Widows and Orphans.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The captive women and children at Fort Robinson will be released at the request of Red Cloud, the Ogalallas earnestly desiring that the widows and orphans who are their relatives be turned over to them as their natural protectors, to take them to their homes and care for them. It is believed that the adoption of this course will serve to allay all excitement and really attach the Red Cloud Indians to the government.

"MYSTERIOUS PROVIDENCES."

SOME PLAIN TALK ABOUT "GOD'S UNSEARCHABLE JUDGMENTS"—A LAYMAN'S VIEW.

[W. I. Chamberlain in N. Y. Tribune.]

Some months ago a fellow townsman died of slow typhoid fever. Both of his sons sickened of the same disease. One died, the other "recovered," shattered for life in mind and body. At the funeral the minister made such remarks as one would expect from the text: "How unsearchable are His judgments, and His ways past finding out." But in this case were the judgments unsearchable, and the ways past finding out? As the minister stood in the doorway of the house there was wafted to him a stench, almost intolerable to untrained nostrils, from the pig pen not a hundred feet distant where a hundred huge hogs were fed thrice daily with sour whey, and from the barn yard nearer still on the other side, where thirty cows were milked night and morning, trampling their voidings deep into the muddy ground. Midway between yard and pen was the house well, and the copious summer rains had doubtless soaked typhoid germs from both through the level, porous ground into this well, to be drank daily by the unthinking victims. And day and night the malaria from the same sources unstrung their physical systems and made them susceptible to the poison. And yet the doctor had never pointed out these things, nor advised their removal.

Nearly thirty years ago there lived a family of our relatives in a village near which I then lived, a mere child. The father and mother and two older members of the family sickened in quick succession of malignant typhoid fever. The little child alone that drank only milk brought from a distance, escaped the disease. The child was brought to my father's house for care, while my elder sister nursed the sick family. After a few weeks' nursing she came home and in a few days left to join her class in Mount Holyoke seminary, and my sister took her place as nurse. The first carried typhoid fever with her, sickened on her arrival at school, lay unconscious for weeks, more dead than alive, and at last revived almost as by miracle. But she brought back from the borders of the grave poisoned blood and a shattered constitution. By sheer force of will she labored for a few years as a missionary's wife and then died, the slow victim of the poison which she ate, drank and breathed in that short fortnight's nursing. The other sister, a perfect picture of youthful strength and beauty, took care of the family a few days, was herself taken violently sick of the same disease, and died in six days. Never shall I forget those days! I wanted to do as Job was urged—"curse God and die." Had I then known, as now, both facts and causes, I should have cursed man for the wicked waste of fair young lives.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL

Commodore A. A. Munger, of the Chicago yacht club, has bought of John Connors, Medway, Ky., the fast trotting mare Romance for $5,000.

There were eighty nine and one-half miles of railroad constructed in Wisconsin during the past year. This makes the total for the state 2,834 miles.

"Not a face card among them," was the comment of a Washington card-player when the Republican members of Mr. Blaine's committee were announced.

Rain or snow fell in Cincinnati in the year 1878 on 155 days, and there were 73 clear and 102 fair days and 35 cloudy days on which neither rain nor snow fell.

CONGRESSIONAL.

House.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 20, 1879.

A PLAIN ISSUE OF FACT.

Speaking of the loans to McClane and Myers, the Standard says it "has the best of authority that Grover did not receive a cent of the money, nor was it borrowed for his benefit." This makes a direct issue of fact, which is very easily settled. Grover held a note of $3,000 against McClane. To this same McClane he made a large loan out of the school fund, on very insufficient security, and with a portion of the money this $3,000 note was paid. McClane's own testimony before the committee shows that the money never passed into his hands. Grover simply transferred it from the school fund to his own pocket and gave up the note to McClane. The Myers loan was made under the following circumstances: Grover sold his Salem factory stock, understood to be a controlling interest in the corporation. The persons who made the purchase had not money to pay him. Through a circuitous transaction a water power at Salem belonging to the property was sold to A. Myers, to whom Grover made a loan out of the school fund, taking property of little value as security. Myers, however did not get a dollar of the money thus nominally borrowed. The whole sum of $10,000 was transferred directly from the school fund to Grover's company by Grover himself, and the state was put off with security which has proven almost worthless. When the property was sold to Myers, and coincident in time with this school fund loan, the factory company—that is Grover—acknowledged receipt of $10,000 for the property, and the same is matter of public record. If these are not facts we invite any one on behalf of Mr. Grover, or Mr. Grover himself, to show the contrary; and as THE OREGONIAN wishes to do no injustice, it will gladly publish such statement, and on fair proof will withdraw its own. Here, then, is a plain issue of fact. The Standard also is good enough to say that if "thinks a public official who has money in trust should not loan it to himself." This raises the question of the loan nominally made to the West Portland Homestead Association. In this case also Grover resorted to a roundabout method to get money out of the school fund. He organized a straw corporation under the above name, mortgaged some land west of Portland, which is covered with brush and timber, and is described as being "so steep that it stands edgewise;" and on this imperfect security, on which no private capitalist would loan $5,000, he took $10,000 out of the school funds, and used the money, as he himself has admitted, to "pay his debts." Now if the Standard really thinks that "a public official who has money in trust should not loan it to himself," it will speak out in censure of this transaction without further delay. And since it professes also to have "the best of authority that Grover did not receive the money" on the McClane and Myers loans, it is incumbent on it to give that authority and clear up this matter. We have now, as before stated, a plain issue of fact, stripped of all superfluous and irrelevant matter, and there is no longer excuse for evasion or silence on the part of those who profess to be prepared to maintain the propriety of Mr. Grover's action.

A BARRIER TO INDIAN CIVILIZATION.

Some very just and sensible opinions concerning the Indians, and the attempts which have been made to bring them under the methods of civilization, have recently been published by Major Powell, known widely for his explorations and surveys in the region of the Rocky mountains, and justly famous as a discriminating observer. He truly says that our Indian tribes have never been made the subject of careful scientific study. They have been regarded with a degree of romantic or merely antiquarian curiosity, their habits and customs and modes of life have been rudely sketched, but that aspect of the Indian character with which the American people are most profoundly interested—the relation of the aborigines to civilization, and the proper means of displacing the tribal system—has never yet been made the subject of scientific inquiry. To this neglect to study the problem and to approach its solution with all the resources which are at the command of the superior race, may be attributed the bungling, slip shod methods which have characterized all our attempts to Christianize and civilize the red man, the continued changes of policy, and the massacres and wars and swindlings which have made the contact of the two races one prolonged and disgraceful tragedy. It is well said that savagery is not inchoate civilization; it is a distinct status of society, with its own institutions, customs, philosophy and religion; and it is absolutely necessary that all these be overthrown before new institutions and habits of life and thought can be introduced. Study of primitive society in all countries and times demonstrates this fact. No small impression has been made on Indian character by contact with the whites, as may be seen, for example, in the changes which have been introduced among the Indians regarding the idea of property. In their primitive condition personal property was almost unknown among them. The right to the soil and the products of the chase was inherent in the clan or tribe, and inheritance was rarely to the children of the deceased, but to the tribe in common, or to the chief representing it. This species of communism is at the bottom of many of the difficulties we have in dealing with them. Every now and then we still hear of a grand potlach among our Indian tribes, by which those individuals who have acquired property make a merit of giving it all away. Since that principle of selfishness which may be called the instinct of property lies at the bottom of all progress, we obtain herein a glimpse of one of the obstacles against which those who are trying to bring the Indians over to the ways of civilization have to contend. Hence perhaps part of the difficulty hitherto experienced in inducing them to take lands in severalty and hold them. It is obvious that if the idea of individual ownership of property is established it must be subject to something like the white man's civil polity in deciding questions of accumulation and inheritance which must surely follow; and the habits of the Indian mind have for ages been formed upon a system at variance with this, and are deeply rooted in their social structure and their religion. Yet, as Major Powell points out, our government has committed the blunder of attempting to respect the tribal integrity of the Indians, while at the same time introducing and cultivating an element profoundly at variance with that condition of independence. It is becoming evident that in this matter, and many others relating to fixed customs and belief, we must either deal with the Indian as he is, looking to the slow but irresistible influences of civilization to effect a change, or we must reduce him to abject slavery. The solution of the problem must embrace a period of several generations, and the work must be laid out with an eye not to immediate but remote results. It is time we called into council the scientific ethnologists, as well as the missionaries and Indian agents, in the treatment of the Indian problem.

Troy Dye, who has been convicted of murder at Sacramento, lived long on the Missouri-Kansas border, and the Record-Union says "the habits which he formed during his disorderly border career molded his future completely. Not only his ideas of the sanctity of human life, but his notions of property rights generally, were hopelessly disorganized." Anderson, his associate in the murder, "does not appear capable of perceiving the wrong of any kind of crime. In his confessions, the minuteness and copiousness of which are very remarkable, he has narrated the most revolting and hideous practices with the cool unconsciousness of guilt a child might exhibit." Of course "there was no probability that such men would be deterred by anything but the fear of detection and punishment, for they evidently lacked all moral sense. If this is an evidence of insanity then Anderson and Dye are alike mad; but the kind of madness which they have exhibited has, by the common consent of civilized communities, been declared curable only by the gallows."

"Consistency," remarks Mr. Clarke, present editor of the Mitchell organ, "is a jewel which does not grow in every swine's snout, to be sure;" and to this philosophical reflection is added an observation regarding "the morning edition of personal prejudice against Senator Mitchell." Since, then, we can't expect to find that jewel, consistency, every time in the setting so finely described by the Bee editor, it is probably useless to refer to that little piece of "prejudice against Senator Mitchell" which he exhibited last spring when he got up that demand upon the Republican candidates in Marion that they should pledge themselves not to vote for Mitchell, and sent the same to THE OREGONIAN for publication.

The expert's organ claims that its blunder about the price of silver was a consequence of its reliance on THE OREGONIAN'S telegraphic dispatches. Not so at all; our dispatches had it exactly right. The expert's blunders come from his own vast and varied misinformation.

The persons who are trying to remove Gen. Howard should get Gason to make an affidavit.

THE OTHER SIDE.

SHERIDAN, Jan. 16, 1879.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

My name having been connected with the Gaston matter in a manner that might cause some of the community to think that I had some personal pique or private malice to gratify, I claim space to set myself right before the community. I will preface my remarks by saying that I am a simple Polk county farmer of twenty-eight years' standing, and all I have made has been done by years of hard, honest labor, and not by engaging in railroad enterprises that drain from the public purse to fill my private one. Regarding the guilt or innocence of Mr. Gaston I have nothing to say, he being under $1,400 bonds to appear before the grand jury of Polk county; but in explaining my connection with the transaction I will give your readers the reasons that have actuated me in my course.

In February, 1878, J. B. Tyron, a wealthy farmer of Polk county, died, and D. W. Ralston was appointed executor of his estate. Knowing the honesty of Mr. Ralston, I went on his bond in the sum of $10,000. Some months after Mr. R. is entering on the discharge of his duties, a claim of $600 subscription to the Dayton and Sheridan railroad was presented to the administrator for acceptance. Acting under the directions of Hon. Ira F. Butler, judge of the court, and Joseph J. Daly, attorney for the estate, Mr. R. refused to allow the claim until Mr Gaston could come before the court to get his claim established. The matter stood in abeyance, awaiting the action of Mr. Gaston.

On Dec. 30, 1878, Mr. Ralston, who is a farmer here, sold his wheat to Mr. Stanley of Dayton, taking two notes for the same, one of $700 and one of $1,000 payable on January 6, 1879. On the day of the sale Mr. Gaston came to Ralston's house and asked to see the first note, saying that Mr. Stanley had sent the money to pay the amount. Mr. Ralston, who was crippled by an accident, got his wife to produce the notes, whereupon Gaston tore off the $700 note, placed it in his pocket and laid down $70 on Ralston's mantelpiece, saying that the estate for which Ralston was administrator owed him that amount. The doors were closed by Ralston's wife and fastened, (Ralston being unable to leave his chair) whereupon Gaston drew his revolver and climbed through a window and rode to Sheridan to await a special train which he had sent for to aid him in getting away. Your communication states that the complaint was sworn to by William Savage, an avowed personal enemy of Gaston's. The facts in the case are that Ralston was unable to come to town to make complaint, and I being interested $10,000 in his faithfully administering the estate did, at his request and in protection of my own rights, make said complaint. I will say in this connection that I have paid $1,000 to aid in the construction of the railroad, and could certainly have no enmity towards the road or its grand mogul, unless believed he was acting wrongly in the transaction in question. Mr. Gaston may be a lawyer and I am not, yet I always believed that the law provided a remedy in case of a just claim being disallowed by an executor or administrator.

WM. SAVAGE.

(We print the above because we always give "both sides" a chance for a hearing. But it seems proper to add that the personal feeling of the writer against Mr. Gaston is very manifest in this statement. Yet as that is no concern of ours we pass it without comment, only saying further that the conduct of the prosecution in failing to make an appearance against Mr. Gaston at Dallas at the time set for the examination, but having him arrested again, taken to Independence and held to answer, is not calculated to give an appearance of fairness, and is the subject of censure by the Dallas Itemizer in an article which appears to be written with absolute impartiality.—ED.)

GRAND

CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE NORTHWEST!

To be held at the Palace Billiard Rooms, Portland, Ogn.

COMMENCING FEBRUARY 15, 1879,

Rules Governing said Tournament.

RULE 1. The game to be played shall be a French Carom, 100 points, known as the "Three Ball Game."

2. In order for a person to be a contestant in said Tournament, he shall be a resident of the Northwest Six Months prior to the date of said Tournament.

3. A referee shall be elected, and all or any disputes arising in such game or games, shall be referred to him, and his decision, when rendered, shall be final.

4. In all games during the Tournament the Crotch shall be barred.

5. No player shall be allowed to withdraw from said games until the game is out; by so doing he forfeits the game.

6. The referee in said games is hereby authorized to have expelled from the hall at the request of either player, any person who shall be guilty of disorderly conduct, or who shall by action or utterances, endeavor to disconcert or assist a player.

7. There shall be two separate prizes, viz: The first prize to be the Champion Cue of the Northwest, to be awarded to the winner; and the second, a purse to be given to the player making the best average.

8. The winner of the Champion Cue shall be entitled to hold it for one year; but after that time any person eligible to play in this Tournament, (viz: having resided in the Northwest Six Months prior to the expiration of said year), can have the right to challenge the holder of said Cue, accompanied by a wager of $100, to play a match game for the Champion Cue.

9. After the winner of said Champion Cue has held it one year, any eligible player (see rule 8) has thirty days in which to challenge said winner; but should no challenge be made him within said thirty days, the Cue then becomes the property of said holder.

10. The winner of said Champion Cue shall be and is hereby required to give bonds in the sum of $150 that he will not dispose of, or convert to his own use said Cue until he becomes the owner according to rule 9. Should the holder of said Cue dispose of it in any way before he becomes the rightful owner, the bonds are forfeited.

The time for commencing said tournament will be on saturday evening, February 15, 1879, at the Palace Billiard Rooms, Stark street, between Front and First.

The Tournament will be managed and conducted by Mr. Elston, who has kindly accepted the position.

Entries.

Entries will be open until Monday, 10th of February, at 12 o'clock M.

The entrance fee for contestants shall be $10.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 20, 1879.

CITY.

FOUR CAUGHT.—A man named Burke, who ...carries on a butcher shop in East Portland, ...and that misfortune to get one of his feet ...painfully crushed last evening at the Stark ...street ferry landing. Burke was standing on ...the pontoon as the boat was coming in, and ...being a little too close had one of his feet ...caught under the ferry apron. In his effort ...to extricate his foot Burke fell down and ...narrowly escaped being crushed to death. ...Fortunately the boat was coming in very ...slowly, or Burke would have received serious ...if not fatal injuries. The engineer, hearing ...Burke's outcry, immediately reversed the ...engine and backed the boat. Burke was ...then in charge by a companion and conveyed to his home in East Portland. On ...examination it was ascertained that no bones ...were broken. No possible blame can be at... ...tached to the engineer Moral Do not ...walk too near the ferry when she is coming ...in, and you will run no risk of getting your ...feet entrenched.

FROM ASTORIA.—Messrs. Trenchard & Up... ...per telegraphed from Astoria Saturday at 9 ...P. M. as follows "Raining and very foggy, ...blowing a gale from southeast; tide high, ...sea very rough. Br. sh Hannah Landles ar... ...rived from Portland at 6 P. M. yesterday; ...bk Brodick Bay left for sea at 8 30 A. M.; ...str Oregon left for sea at 7 A. M." Another ...dispatch at 4P. M. the same day says. Strong ...wind from southeast; Oregon crossed out at ...8 A. M.; Br. ships Robert Lees and Shenar ...Stevens; European arrived down at 10 ...A.M. tide falling, bar very rough, cloudy.

OBITUARIES.—Mr. John Quigley, a young ...man aged about 22, died Saturday morning ...at St. Vincent's hospital after a brief illness. ...Deceased was an honored member of the ...Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society, and ...also a member of the Emmet Guard. Yesterday the funeral took place under the ...auspices of the organizations mentioned, ...preceded by a band, discoursing a mournful ...dirge, the members of the Hibernian Society, ...in full military company, and a long cortege of friends and relatives, the remains were conveyed to St. Mary's cemetery and laid to rest...

THE "OREGON POET(?)"—The following re... ...markable paragraph appeared in the San Fran... ...cisco Call, of the 13th: "Stephen Maybell, ...the Oregon Poet,' will have a benefit on ...Thursday evening in Y. M. C. A. hall, Den ...Harney presiding, and Mrs. Joaquin Miller ...appearing with Judge Ferral." So far as ...known, Oregon is not mourning for any of ...her lost poets.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will announce an opinion in this court this morning in the case of Chas. Manning vs. Ben. Ayden; and also announce the decision on the exceptions for impertinence to the ...bill in the case of Gest vs. the Malheur and ...Great River ditch and mining company.

UP THE RIVER.—There is every reason to ...believe that the Columbia river between the ...Dalles and The Dalles is clear of ice, at least sufficiently so to allow a boat to effect a pas... ...sage to-day the O. S. N. Co's boats will ...undoubtedly attempt to make connection with ...coast mails, express and passengers.

MEETINGS CONTINUE.—It was announced ...from the pulpit of the Taylor street M. E. ...church yesterday that religious meetings ...would continue during the present week. ...Services are held in the basement. Strangers, ...visitors and everybody are invited to attend, ...assured of a hearty welcome.

UNION MEETINGS.—Last night the Congregational Church was filled to repletion. Rev. L. S. Coats preached an able sermon, which was followed with an interesting inquiry meeting. To-night at the Y. M. C. A. Rev. Coan will lead. Rev. Mr. Coats will lead on Tuesday evening.

REMAINS OF MR. BALL.—The remains of the late Mr. Ball, who died suddenly at the Cascades about two weeks ago, have been brought to this city and will be shipped east for interment. The remains are accompanied by the bereaved widow.

SELLY AMATEURS.—This (Monday) evening the Sally Amateurs will play at the Vancouver post "Box and Cox" and "Betsy Baker." The scenery has been painted expressly for these pieces.

VERY ILL.—Capt. Arthur Morris, of the 4th artillery, has recently arrived from the east ...to company with his wife, and is lying ill at the Occident Hotel at Astoria.

JACKSON GRANT.—This Indian, who has been convicted of murder in the first degree, will receive his sentence next Wednesday morning.

ASTORIA ITEMS.

A correspondent writing under date of Jan. ...furnishes the following:

The weather for the last few days has been very stormy and walking slushy.

It is unnecessary to state that we missed the OREGONIAN during the freeze.

Messrs. Parker and Bowlby are driving piles for a new wharf above Mr. Develin's fishery. This looks like progress.

The fisheries are getting ready for work. Truck loads of lead and nets are being hauled up and down for the various points.

The principal fire engine of this city was tried last evening and found in good condition; our firemen are proud of its whirrer.

UP THE COLUMBIA.

Dispatches from up the Columbia last evening at 6 o'clock indicate the following state of the weather:

The Dalles—Very foggy; thermometer 33°; no wind.

Celilo—Have had a dense fog all day; thermometer has been considerable floating ice to-day.

Walla Walla—Cloudy; thermometer 48°.

Wallula—Cloudy, light up-stream breeze; thermometer 38°; ice disappearing fast.

Blood River—Foggy; thermometer 40°; no wind, ...most all gone.

Willows—Calm; cloudy; looks like rain; not much ice in the river; thermometer 40°

Cascades—Clear; thermometer 40°, stiff down-river wind.

BRIEF NOTES.

Fiz, fiz, fiz

"Marble Hearts" to-night.

Bright and glorious weather yesterday

A jammed matinee Saturday afternoon

Steamer Elder due at Astoria this evening

Navigation resumed on the upper Columbia

The air yesterday was balmy and spring-like

The city prisoners are engaged in cleaning the streets.

Steamship Idaho will sail hence Wednesday morning.

The old steamer Vancouver will soon be ready for service again.

The back bone of the freeze-up is broken—at least so we fondly hope.

The steamer Great Republic will not sail for Portland before the 25th

The last appearance of Mr. Piercy and Miss Woodthorpe to-night.

Chief Joseph is in Washington City. C. J. ought to enter the lecture field.

The Johns and Johnnesses will commence their grand "hoo doo" to-day.

All the members of Manager Maguire's company have kindly volunteered to appear at the benefit to-night.

A young man named Quigley died at St Vincent's Hospital Saturday. The funeral took place yesterday.

Chinese new year will commence to-day. For the next few days nought but an infernal din will issue from Chinatown.

Mr. John Barrett, the plumber, is now on his way to New York on business for his house. He will return with a large and varied stock of goods in his line.

SPLEEN TOWARD GEN. HOWARD.

Recently there has been a statement in circulation to the effect that citizens of Eastern Oregon and Washington were preparing a petition to be forwarded to Washington City requesting the transfer of Gen. Howard from the command of this department. It has been well understood that private resentment is at the bottom of it. But there is no information that any considerable number of persons have been induced to sign the petition, and the following dispatch from Walla Walla to THE OREGONIAN, received on Saturday evening, corroborates information which had previously come to us:

WALLA WALLA, Jan 13

The only circular for the removal of General Howard that has come to public view is signed by fictitious and counterfeit Indian names, and is looked upon by prominent citizens as a stupend ous farce. The circulars that are here were received from Rinehart, a U. S. Indian agent at Malheur reservation. The public laugh at the idea of Howard's being removed, and can think of nothing to warrant such a step.

Rumors here are rife that the governor of Oregon has reprieved or pardoned Indian Aps who, according to all accounts, was hung yesterday at Pendleton.

FASHION NOTES.

Turquoises set in Etruscan gold are very popular.

Now sealskin sacques are very long and tight fitting.

Cream color is the favorite shade for gents' evening gloves.

Spiral brace ets are much worn, some reaching to the elbow.

Long jabots of Breton lace beautify the richest evening costumes.

Crinoline of very small proportions is beginning to make its appearance.

Innumerable loops and ends of narrow cashmere ribbon are worn at the throat.

Plush has been revived again as a material for handsome opera cloaks and suits.

A novelty in pins is a jeweled butterfly to be worn either as a brooch or hair ornament.

Mourning wraps are of the same material as the suit, trimmed with an abundance of crape.

The latest Parisian intelligence states that the polonaise is absolutely dethroned at last.

Black silk aprons of fancy design are a popular addition to light cashmere house dresses.

Fine batiste handkerchiefs have richly embroidered borders, two and three inches in depth.

As many as two or three panniers now appear upon the most expensive imported costumes.

IN MEMORIAM.

At a meeting of the P. H. B. Society, the following was passed:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty in His infinite wisdom to call from amongst us our beloved brother John Quigley, and recognizing in all things His merciful dispensation, we submit to His decree, however painful it may be to us. Therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of our beloved brother we have lost a useful member of our association, a true friend, and one whose place cannot soon be filled; and that the society has been deprived of one who has been not only a kind gentleman but also a true friend to all with whom he has had intercourse, and who will long be remembered by those who knew him.

Resolved, That the heartfelt sympathy of this society be tendered to the grief stricken family and friends of the deceased.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the Sunday Welcome, in the daily papers of this city and in the Catholic Herald.

MILITARY NOTES.

Upon a report of the post surgeon and the recommendation of the commanding officer, Fort Vancouver, W. T., concurred in by the medical director of the department, a board of officers is constituted to assemble at Fort Vancouver, at 10 o'clock A. M., Friday, the 17th inst., for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon the sanitary condition, and adaptability for the purposes used, of the barracks, officers' quarters, and adjutant grounds of that post. The report will, as far as practicable, show present hygienic condition of buildings and grounds and recommend what remedy shall be applied to correct the reported evils. The following officers have been detailed for the board: Lieutenant-Colonel Elisha D. Bailey, surgeon, Major Charles G. Sawtelle, Quartermaster; Major Edwin C. Mason, 21st infantry; First Lieutenant Fred H. E. Ebstein, R. Q. M., 21st infantry; First Lieutenant Daniel Cornman, 21st infantry.

DEATH OF REV. J. A. CORNWALL.

The Yamhill Reporter contains the following note from San Buena Ventura, Cal., dated January 5th, in reference to the death of Rev. J. A. Cornwall, who is well known all over this state: "Rev J. A. Cornwall died Jan. 2, 1879. He removed to Oregon in 1846 and settled in Yamhill county, where he lived nineteen years, spending all his time in preaching. Had he lived until the 18th day of February, 1879, he would have been 81 years old. He was confined to his bed over two months, and died in the full trust of a heavenly reward for his labors upon earth."

Just received per steamer Oregon, direct from New York, a new stock of walking suits at Mrs. Ach's, corner Second and Morrison.

For a nice fitting and stylish suit, ladies be sure to call at the popular IXL, 151 Third st., near Morrison.

AMUSEMENTS.

MATINEE.—Saturday afternoon New Market theater was jammed to overflowing at the matinee. The "Two Orphans" was repeated for the last time.

CRAIGA DHOIL.—This beautiful romantic Irish drama was produced for the last time at New Market theater Saturday evening to a large house.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.—Commencing on the 15th of February, a grand billiard tournament will be held at the Palace billiard rooms in this city. The tournament will be for the championship of the Northwest. Entries will be open until Monday 10th of February, at 12 o'clock M. The entrance fee for contestants shall be $10. In another column will be found the rules governing the tournament.

MR MAGUIRE'S BENEFIT.—That prince of genial fellows, and successful manager, Mr John Maguire will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit this evening tendered by the citizens of Portland and the members of his dramatic company. It is wholly needless to dwell upon the popularity of Mr Maguire, as a manager actor and gentleman and the strict faith he has kept with this public in furnishing only first class attractions On the occasion of his benefit a most attractive bill will be offered the public which aside of the deserving object, is well worthy of patronage. The performance will open with the poetical and beautiful play of "Marble Heart," in which that talented and popular young actor Mr Samuel Piercy, who has kindly volunteered to will personate the character of "Raphael," supported by the full company. At the conclusion of the play, Mr John Maguire will appear and recite Tennyson's famous "Charge of the Light Brigade." Mr. Walter M Leman will favor the audience with an original poem entitled "The Stage." Following this will be presented the trial scene from the historical drama "Robert Emmet" in which Mr Maguire will personate the character of Ireland's greatest martyr. The Emmet Guard will next appear and give an exhibition in their lightning drill and bayonet exercise. The evening's performance will conclude with that most laughable of Irish comedies in two acts "Irish Mesmerits" in which Mr Maguire will personate "Felix O Callaghan." A large number of seats have been sold and a jammed house is assured.

COUNTY COURT—RICE, JUDGE.

LAW.

Jos. Niles & Co vs D. W. Prentice et al—Argued and submitted and taken under advisement.

Court adjourned until next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

PURSUING THE REDS.—Thomas Moore, who was with General Crook, and who has been with the command of that great Indian fighter, under date of December 31st, writes to his friend Edward Long, Esq., of East Portland, concerning the pursuit of the Cheyennes, who were in captivity at Camp Robinson, Nebraska, but recently escaped and are now being hunted the second time by the troops. Mr. Moore says:

Our last expedition was after the runaway Cheyenne Indians that left the Indian Territory in the early part of September. We caught 149 of them after they had fled for 800 miles. Nobody but those who pursued them can understand why it was that they were not overtaken sooner. True I could give you a few points that would throw some light on the subject, but not sufficient to give anybody a perfect understanding of the situation. In the first place the strip of mountains lying along the foot of the Rocky Mountains and extending eastward to where the settlements west of the Missouri river become sufficiently dense to offer any obstruction to the march of the Indians is 250 to 300 miles wide, with nothing to prevent them from moving in any direction. Out of the buffalo range, there are plenty of cattle scattered over the country to furnish them subsistence, and they were so perfectly acquainted with the country that they were never at a loss to find water, while frequently the troops would have to depend on following the Indian trail for their supply, which was often very difficult to do. They, the Indians, would sometimes on leaving a stream take a due north course, and when they came to hard or sodden ground they would scatter out and when the trail was found again it would be bearing east or west, just as likely in one direction as the other. These manouvers would frequently cause two or three hours' delay, and night coming on before we could reach where the Indians had camped, and not being able to follow the trail, our only show was to strike north with the hope of finding a stream, their general course in this section being east and west. But we were not always sure of finding water, as in this section there are long distances where water is only found in small lakes or pools, or an occasional spring that breaks out, runs a few hundred feet and sinks, without tree or shrub to indicate the presence of water. There is one other thing that militates against our soldiery, which I have neither time nor inclination to enlarge upon. The pusillanimous economy that will not allow a soldier the ammunition necessary to practice shoot ng, which alone gives him confidence in his gun and himself. Then, again, the careless and partisan interfering with the army, threatening to discharge large numbers of officers, has discouraged some of the best and has had a demoralizing effect on the whole.

For Dyspepsia, Damiana Bitters. Fleckenstein & Mayer are sole agents.

Dr H. F. Adams will remain at the St Charles hotel until further notice. Dr Adams is a regular physician, also an old army surgeon, a man of experience and good judgment. Dr. Adams gives special attention to diseases of the eye and ear, throat, lungs, and all diseases of the respiratory organs. Dr. Adams invites all who are afflicted to call on him and be satisfied, however complicated the case may be. Consultation free.

THE EXTREME PENALTY.

Execution of Aps, the Third Murderer of Geo. Coggan, at Pendleton on the 17th inst.—Asserts His Innocence to the Last—Assurances of Friendship by the Indians—No Disturbance.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

PENDLETON, Jan. 17, 1879,
VIA WALLA WALLA, 18th.

Aps, the remaining Indian who was convicted of complicity in the murder of whites last summer, was hanged here to-day. The same precautions were taken to prevent any trouble. A number of whites and Indians attended the execution. Several prominent Indians addressed the whites and Indians, assuring them of peace in the future. Two hours before the execution Aps bade farewell to his people. He said he died as an innocent man; he had killed no one. He solemnly adjured his people to profit by his fate, to always remain steadfast friends to the whites, and not harbor ill feeling toward them. In an interview with the principal chiefs, all displayed great anxiety to have it understood they had no intention to retaliate; but would remain peaceful. They ask for even justice, and that the wholesale plundering of their horses by lawless whites be stopped. Regarding Commissioner Hayt's recommendation to remove them to another locality, the Indians express partial willingness, but desire an opportunity to visit Washington and arrange their future with the president himself.

OREGON.

Mrs Mary Evans, aged 88 years, died near Wilbur last week.

Several persons were arrested last week in Canyonville for disturbing a religious meeting and fined $15 each.

The farmers in Tillamook county raise four pound potatoes, and turnips measuring 60 inches in circumference.

David Markly, employed in Comstock's mill, has invented a new saw tooth which it is claimed is greatly superior to the style of tooth commonly used.

A half breed Indian boy, about fourteen years of age, was arrested at Cottage Grove one day last week, charged with burglarizing the store of Lurch Bros. The articles stolen some jewelry and watch chains, were found upon his person, and he was bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The Port Blakely mills are running day and night.

Two other brick buildings will be put up at Olympia next spring.

The Port Townsend fire company is small, but efficient and flourishing.

Potatoes sell at 40 to 45 cents per bushel on the farm, in the Sound counties.

Whidby Island shipped 95 tons of potatoes to San Francisco at one cargo last week.

The towns on the Sound were without southern mail for eleven days during the freeze up.

The grindstones produced at the Chuckanut quarry are said to be of excellent quality, much surpassing those imported.

A Walla Walla paper says there is any amount of limestone in Colville valley and Coeur d'Alene mountains, and also it is said near Spokane falls. With railroad connection we shall get our lime from that quarter.

WEBSTER AND HIS DEBTS.

[From the New York Times.]

Every once and a while somebody contradicts in the public prints the stories always circulating about Daniel Webster's extreme carelessness in money matters. A writer in the Boston Advertiser has just denied that Rufus Choate ever lost a dollar by indorsing the Massachusetts statesman's notes, and that the latter invariably paid strict attention to his paper maturing at the Merchants' Bank in that city. If this be so, Choate and the Merchants' Bank must have been exceptionally treated by the great expounder, who was half a Harold Skimpole, though in a grand, lofty way. At this late day there can hardly be any doubt as to Webster's financial habits, notorious in Boston and Washington, and almost everywhere else, in fact. Some of his friends used to say that he did not contract those habits until he had been a long time in the United State senate, and been obliged to relinquish a very lucrative practice. This can scarcely be correct, because persons who knew him intimately in his early life were wont to speak of him, to put it delicately, as entirely devoid of business methods and business ideas.

Charles Sumner mentioned more than once an experience he had with the god-like Daniel, whose successor he was (1850) in the national senate. It was while Sumner was practicing law in Boston, years before he had acquired any general reputation. He and Webster had defended the Commonwealth in a suit, and had been allowed $1,000 for their services. One day Webster stepped into Sumner's office and said: "I'm going over to the state house, Sumner, to get my $1,000, and I'll get yours too, if you like." Sumner (it seems that he had some knowledge of his late associate's peculiarities) declined the proposal with thanks); and when it was urged declared emphatically that he preferred to let his money remain where it was. "All right, then," replied Webster, and departed. But when he went to the state house he drew Sumner's fee as well as his own, the clerk having no doubt that he had been authorized to do so; and the eminent barrister, it is understood, died indebted to his younger colleague for the amount. Webster's fame was that he never took any notice of his debts, and that he was totally reckless of money. All he wanted was supplied by his Boston admirers, and it slipped through his fingers like quicksilver. He appeared to be so fully aware of his idiosyncrasy as to jest about it. A Virginian politician once told him in Washington that he ought to be a southerner, because he was so genial and so eloquent. "That is not the only reason," remarked the senator. "What is another?" "Because I never pay my debts." Daniel Webster was unquestionably a great orator, a great lawyer, a great intellectual and political force; but surely nobody who ever knew him would charge him with the smallest concern about his debts.

To Physicians and Patients.

Call on Dr. Edward Henderson, Vitapathic Physician, N. E. corner First and Yamhill street, Portland, and have an Electrical Oranal Diagnosis made, which never fails to locate disease of any of the vital organs. Physicians, no matter how skillful, cannot always determine the exact location of disease until, in too many cases, it is beyond control. Dr. Henderson also cures all manner of disease by the use of Magnetism, Magnetic Herbal remedies and Electricity, and is remarkably successful in treating most of the so called surgical diseases without the use of the knife or other surgical instrument.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption severe coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 40,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the GERMAN SYRUP cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample Bottles to try sold at 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by all druggists.

SABBATH OR SUNDAY?

THE SABBATH OF JUDAISM VS. THE "FIRST DAY OF THE WEEK" OF CHRISTIANITY.

SALEM, Jan. 15, 1879.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

There are some questions that I, as a public teacher, have never stepped aside to discuss. There are thousands that do not believe that women have souls, and there are also many who believe that Gentiles ought to keep the law of Moses, but I have hardly deemed it necessary to spend time to disprove either of these notions, because there is no vagary of a fertile imagination but has or will have its believers. But when such men as Rev O Dickinson of known honesty and accredited intelligence, is carried away with the dissimulation of sophistical argument, I may be excused for briefly referring to a little of the cumulative Bible teaching on this "sabbath question." And that little will be confined to the communication of our friend, in your issue of the 14th, entitled "The seventh day or the rest."

1. God has commanded us to keep the seventh day of the week; and then men have no right to assume that the first day may be substituted for it. That is as true as any word that prophet ever uttered. But "the assumption is entirely false" because God has not commanded us to keep the seventh day.

In Ex 20 3 C God did command "the children of Israel to keep the sabbath throughout their generations, for a perpetual covenant, and a sign between God and the children of Israel forever" (Ex. 31 16 and 17.) So also with this same people the covenant of circumcision was to be an everlast "ing covenant." All the lawful Mosaic was "a yoke" laid upon the Jewish people, and upon only. For we ought to "know that whatsoever things the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law, (Ro 3, 19.) Paul says "we are not under the law, but under grace." (Ro 6, 15.) "For Christ is the end of the law, to every one that believeth (in him." Is our friend under a curse? If he is "under the law," for doing its works, he surely is (Gal 3, 10.) "For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse." "The law worketh death." In Christ only there is life. Every penalty of the law was a "curse" or DEATH. In it there was no provision for pardon. Under that law, if ye shall kindle any fire on the Sabbath day ye shall be put to death. (Ex. 35, 2, 3.) No man dare say that the law is still in force, but the penalties changed or repealed. No, the Sabbath and all the law of Moses is not changed, only as is implied in being "abolished" and entirely "done away."

But Christ kept the entire law, and enjoined

I firmly believe Fellows' Hypophosphites has done more good than any medicine yet discovered in the cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough and kindred diseases.
W. H. THOMPSON,
Telegraph Station,
Harbour Grace, Newfoundland.

Persons suffering from impure blood, or whose health is giving away, either as ministers or those who study closely, will find Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites the material to build them up, and the tonic to keep them there.
Pugwash, N. S. DR. CLAY.

Each effort of the mind, every act of the body, will extract a volume of nervous element in proportion to the magnitude of the thought or action, and since Fellows' Hypophosphites really will supply the vital fluid to the body, it must support the human mechanism successfully after the vigor of youth is passed.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN.
His Wonderful Success
IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL
Chronic and Private Diseases.
He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS
public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female. He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease, in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease, mentally and physically, he has restored them to health and happiness, for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases: Catarrh, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat and chest, by an entirely new system only known to himself. Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, including Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood. In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world-wide reputation by his astonishing success, not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States. Diseases of the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of, and never fails to give relief at once, and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time.

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints, and understands their delicate and refined organization, as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health.

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE
over most physicians—he can tell the patients' disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual. This accounts in part for his great professional success.
All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand, and the patient need not fear the result.

will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally, and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments, to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps.
Everything strictly confidential and honorable.

THE DOCTOR
has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify.

CAUTION.
Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind, who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors, through pretended friendship for the patients. Look out for them: they are knaves, prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M. BRENAN, the Medical Lecturer, and read his sign on his door.
